

"He wath ditthhhpickable!" says Daffy the Duck, although it's not clear whether he was talking about Yosemite Sam or Bugs Bunny. At that moment, Mr. Fudd sprung out from behind him, and yelled "Duck Season!" This prompted Daffy to turn around, where Mr. Fudd then pulled the trigger on his shotgun, setting off a huge explosion. Seconds later, Mr. Duck bitterly picked up his beak off the floor, and stormed away with it.

Bugs Bunny was loved by millions everywhere across the world for over the past sixty years. Throughout his life, he was a barber, a psychiatrist, a boxer, a pitcher for the Yankees, a Private Eye, a gangster, Robin Hood, an astronaut, a cowboy, a train conductor, renowned pianist, opera conductor, tap dancer, and circus performer, among many, many other things. But his best role was that of himself, a clever, funny, buck-toothed carrot-eating, fuzzy tailed, long eared unsuspecting Joe Rabbit, who just happened to stroll into the screwballiest of situations and people, simply to ask them what was up.

Carrots everywhere were half eaten in his name, and spread across his rabbit hole and mailbox. Funeral arrangements are set for next week, where the Tazmanian devil is set to spin seventy-five times for every year of the rabbit's life. French skunk Pepe LePeu was expected to attend, but his representatives say he has suddenly cancelled due to hygienic purposes. Some believe he wasn't invited because he is French.

When asked about the news of the Rabbit, Warner Bros. executives said "Whatever, we'll just draw another one. I mean, dude, it's just a cartoon- sheesh!"

Yosemite Sam is said to be missing and is wanted in connection with the shooting. He was last seen traveling across Pakistan, beating a camel unconscious with a bat, and yelling "When I say Woah, I mean WOH!" If convicted he faces being crumpled up, and thrown into the trash.

Bugs Bunny was rushed to the hospital, but he never made it. His last words were: "Don't tell Porky."